NO MILITARY OR NAVAL PROPERTY DAMAGED IN RAID

Only Half Dozen Air Raiders Out of Score Starting Reached London

NEW POINTS ATTACKED BY ITALIAN FRONT INVADERS

Demand to Be Made By the Russians for Peace Without Annexation

(Compiled from A. P. Dispatches.)
The Germans, in their latest air raid on London carried out last evening, harmed no naval or military property and did little other damage. They caused the death, however, of ten persons and their bombs injured 70 others, besides five persons injured outside of the capital. The raiding forces suffered losses. One machine came down in the sea after being hit and two of its crew of three were captured. The British official report of the raid says that there is reason to suppose that another of the Germans came down in the English channel.

Only about a half dozen of nearly a score of raiders that made the attempt succeeded in reaching London. The others were driven back by gun fire and the area over the capital were engaged above it by British machines.

Reports from Athens stated that General Sarraji, who has command of the entente forces on the Macedonian front since the allied base was established at Saloniki, has been recalled, to be succeeded by General Guilleme, also of the French army. It is not known whether this move presages any change in the policy the allies have pursued at Saloniki, which has been in the past has been just sufficiently aggressive to keep the central powers uncertain of the entente intentions.

On the Italian northern front the Austro-Germans persist in strong efforts to find a weak point in the Italian defense and through it to rush south to the Venetian plains. Checked east of the Brenna last week, the invaders, despite the heavy losses inflicted upon them by the Italians, have struck two new points on the line between Asiago and the Piave.

Monte Zolario, between the Brenna and the Piave, has become the center of fighting in this sector. Berlin claims the capture of some Italian positions there and the repulse of Italian counter-attacks. Vigorous attacks in this region, Rome says, were repulsed by the defenders. West of the Brenna the Austro-Germans have attacked in the mountain region and Berlin says more than 1,000 prisoners were captured. There has been no change on the front in France. Infantry fighting has not increased and the artillery continues to be active in certain sectors.

Field Marshal Haig, the London Times says, is making important changes in his headquarters staff. The British commander in chief in France has made virtually no changes since he took over the command from Viscount French.

London and English coast towns again have been visited by German raiders. Number of bombs were dropped on London and in Essex and Kent by the enemy airplanes which crossed the coast early Tuesday evening. British airplanes met the enemy in the air and the anti-aircraft defenses subjected him to a heavy fire. The casualties and damage caused has not been announced.

Russian representatives have been ordered by Leon Trotsky, the Bolshevik foreign minister to demand of the Central powers at the peace conference at Brest-Litovsk whether they agree to make peace without annexations and indemnities and "on the principle of self-determination of nations." Trotsky is reported to have invited allied participation on the threat that treaties will be broken and a separate peace arranged. Clear indications of the internal situation in Russia are lacking.

The old French cruiser Chateaufort was torpedoed and sunk in the Mediterranean last Friday and the submarine which attacked her also was destroyed. The cruiser was being used as a transport and carried military passengers, all of whom were rescued. Ten members of the crew of the cruiser, which displaced 7,898 tons were lost.

CHANGES IN STAFF.

London, Dec. 19.—Field Marshal Haig, commander-in-chief of the British forces in France, the Times says it understands, is making important changes in his headquarters staff, which up to this time has virtually been unaltered since he took over the supreme command.

SENATE INQUIRIES BEING MADE INTO WAR ACTIVITIES

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, Dec. 19.—Senate inquiries into the transportation situation both rail and ship, have been added to the series of war activity investigations to be conducted by congressmen during the Christmas recess.

When congress adjourned yesterday until January 3 the senate left behind it five investigations, army preparations and sugar in full swing, one on Senator La Follette's St. Paul speech pending, and those on railroad and shipping affairs to be begun. A house committee is hearing testimony on the navy's activities.

The senate's decision to investigate the railroad situation was taken despite the fact that administration spokesmen indicated President Wilson will present his plans for solution of the problem after the holiday recess. The senate interstate-commerce committee was authorized to start the inquiry before congress reassembles January 3. Senator Cummins, in proposing the investigation, asserted that he expected it would be constructive instead of critical and the recent report of the interstate commerce commission suggesting either government operation or repeal of the anti-pooling laws and a federal loan as a way out of present difficulties probably would be considered.

Equally quick action was taken on Senator Harding's resolution to investigate the shipping situation. The resolution, prompted, it was announced, by its sponsor by the continual reorganization of the shipping board and the emergency fleet corporation was approved and the commerce committee instructed to proceed with an investigation. Chairman Fletcher called the committee to meet Thursday to arrange its procedure.

In its last business day the senate took final action toward submission to the states of the federal prohibition amendment and arranged for the disposal of Walsh coal and oil leasing bill Jan. 7. The house passed a resolution to remove doubt as to the application of the excess profit taxes to federal officers except the President and supreme court justices and arranged to take up the suffrage amendment Jan. 10.

GOVERNOR ATTENDS FUNERAL OF GOTCH

(Associated Press Telegram)
Humboldt, Ia., Dec. 19.—Humboldt turned from its normal tasks today to place in Union cemetery here the body of Frank Gotch, the man whose wrestling fame brought public attention to this little city.

Business paused and the school Gotch attended as a boy remained closed as the city and countryside joined in tribute to the retired world's champion wrestler who died at his home here last Sunday, after a protracted illness.

Governor W. K. Harding was among the hundreds of personal friends of the late champion who joined in the funeral services.

The Masonic order had charge of the services.

SOLDIERS' LIVES WERE ENDANGERED BY FIRE

Columbus, Dec. 19.—The lives of two hundred recently enlisted soldiers of the regular army were endangered in an early morning fire in the Knights of Columbus hall, State and Sixth streets, which they were using as a barracks. All the soldiers, however, made good their escape although scantily clad. The blaze, while small, caused considerable smoke and for a time aroused fear for the safety of the soldiers.

After the fire had been extinguished the soldiers returned to the structure to their beds. The loss, it is estimated, will not exceed several hundred dollars.

DELAY CAUSED BY A DECISION OF DEPARTMENT

Several Months' Delay Ensued When Change In Rifles Was Made

ARMY INQUIRY DEVELOPS CONTRACT MADE IN JULY

New Rifle, Now In Use By American Army, However, is Greatly Superior

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, Dec. 19.—Several months' delay in supplying rifles, private ordnance manufacturers told the senate military committee today, resulted from the war department's decision to modify the Enfield type. Factory machinery changes, the committee was told, reduced the output of Enfields for England and production will not return to maximum until next May.

A contract with the war department to produce modified Enfields was not completed until last July, President Henry S. Kimball of the Remington company testified. It was October, he said, before machinery changes could be completed to begin output.

Delay in congressional appropriations, Kimball also stated, further delayed the output. His firm hesitated to take a contract in the absence of definite appropriations.

The modified rifle and also the American ammunition, Vice President Tyler of the same concern testified, are regarded superior to British types. After war was declared in April, he stated, the war department immediately began negotiations with them to devote their factories, engaged on a British contract for 400,000 Enfields, to make the modified American type.

Mr. Kimball disclaimed any implication that appropriations delayed production and said negotiations by the war department were promptly begun. If the department had not decided to modify the British Enfield type, he said, his firm could have turned out the British type virtually without any delay; but both he and Mr. Tyler said the new American rifle is superior, largely due to its ability to use much better American cartridges.

Both manufacturers declared it a very "wise move" to adopt the new type, notwithstanding the delay in production.

Turning to machine guns, the manufacturers said they were making the new Browning gun, "the finest ever seen."

How private manufacturers anticipated government needs and spent millions in preparation without orders or with only informal verbal arrangements at most was told by Vice President Louis E. Stoddard of the Marlin corporation.

In February, Stoddard said, on verbal orders from Rear Admiral Earle work on five thousand machine guns was begun. He went to Colonel Rice at the army ordnance bureau he said and offered to begin work on guns for the army in anticipation of war.

"We are not interested," was Colonel Rice's reply, Mr. Stoddard said, adding:

"It was utterly impossible to make the ordnance department realize the possibilities of war and we simply folded our tents and went home."

Before the war began, Stoddard said he offered to sell machine guns to the department for $500 each but it was turned down. Since under orders placed, the contract cost was twice that sum.

Delivery of the new light Browning guns for airplanes under an order given by the war department three weeks ago is expected to begin this month, Stoddard declared.

The new Browning gun, Stoddard declared "absolutely the best ever invented." The Lewis gun is different from the Browning, he said, and each has its particular functions.

If the war department, when asked for orders last February had given them, Stoddard added, by today forty thousand Colt machine guns could have been delivered.

"The ordnance bureau simply wouldn't listen, wouldn't give any orders," he said.

Delay in producing the modified Enfield rifle, because of the war department's negotiations, was explained by Vice President Otterson of the Winchester Company. Negotiations began last April, he said, and contracts were not let until July 12. Deliveries began in August.

THE NAVAL INQUIRY IS ALSO UNDER WAY.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, Dec. 19.—Secretary Daniels and Paymaster General McGowan of the navy were the first witnesses summoned to appear today before the house naval subcommittee delegates to begin an investigation into the navy's war activities.

Chairman Oliver of the subcommittee said that he expected a number of leading naval authorities, including those abroad, would furnish information to the committee particularly regarding the navy's work overseas. He announced that part of the sessions would be public, but those at which subjects considered navy secrets were discussed would be held in executive session.

MONUMENT FOR THE FIRST AMERICANS KILLED IN FRANCE

(Associated Press Telegram)
Pittsburg, Dec. 19.—Citizens of Lorraine, France, will erect a monument to the memory of Corporal James B. Gresham of Evansville, Ind., and Privates Merle D. Hay of Glidden, Ia., and Thomas Enright of Pittsburg, who were the first of the American expeditionary force to fall in France according to a letter received yesterday by Mayor Joseph G. Armstrong of this city, from the prefect of the village near which the Americans are buried. The perfect in his letter says:

"All three fell facing the enemy, devotees of duty, sons worthy of your grand and noble country."

"I salute them in their death. I salute them in the name of the people of Lorraine, in the person of their chiefs, their valiant comrades in whose midst died those first three heroes of this grand war of independence."

This is, indeed, a war of independence, which sustains today our free ourselves, to free the world from the most formidable powers of oppression, which the genius of evil has ever created.

"Those three young men have fought and died for the right, for liberty, for civilization against German imperialism, a shame and a menace to humanity. Their names will not be forgotten."

CAMP SHERMAN BOYS PREPARE FOR OVERSEAS

750 Soldiers to Be Named Who Will Start For France at Once

ASK OFFICERS TO HAVE MEN READY FOR SERVICE

Ohio Selects to Enjoy Big Open Air Christmas Entertainment

(Associated Press Telegram)
Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, O., Dec. 19.—Hundreds of Ohioans and western Pennsylvania selects are hoping they have been chosen for service overseas in the near future. An order from Washington Saturday specified that 750 men from Camp Sherman be named at once for the front. In addition, 50 experienced typists are wanted from the quartermasters' corps for similar duty. Volunteers were called for in most of the units which are affected by the orders and a hearty response was given by the men. In some of the companies upwards of 15 per cent of the men desired immediate service abroad.

No figures on the total number of men who are available for the service were to be had at division headquarters today, but officials said that there was a marked difference among the men who had offered to go to France in contrast to their general attitude toward their military life previously.

Just how soon the men will be required or where they will be sent from here is not known. All that is asked of the 83d division is to have the men ready. It was said at division headquarters today that the only thing unusual about the request was the number of men wanted at this time. Requests and orders for men to be transferred to service elsewhere are coming in constantly; Colonel P. T. Hane, jr., chief of staff, said today.

Of the men wanted, 60 per cent are from infantry units, 13 per cent from the engineers, eight from the field artillery, six from the signal corps, three from the medical corps, two from the ordnance, one from the cavalry, and three from the coast artillery. Cooks, bakers, tailors, barbers, shoemakers, clerks, buglers, mechanics, saddlers and horse-shoers are to be included in the number.

Five hundred men from here will be transferred to the 19th engineering regiment to that effect from Adjutant General McCain was received with the understanding that these men are to be equipped for overseas service. Most of these men will be specialists and experts in different mechanical branches. Where and when they will be sent is not known.

Camp Sherman officers, graduates of the first officers' training camp, will have to wait some time for promotions, it was said today. All recommendations for promotions must be sent to Washington for ratification and final action.

Ohio selects will be given the biggest open-air Christmas entertainment ever staged in the United States, it plans here materialize. Twenty-five thousand trained voices and 300 musicians will participate. The affair will take place in the huge open-air auditorium now under construction.

Five hundred trained voices from Chillicothe, 600 from Columbus, 150 from Dayton, 75 from Kingston, and many from other places will lead the singing.

In addition, there will be massed bands and orchestras from various regiments in camp, while huge lighting effects planned express musical sentiment are being constructed.

FORMER EMPLOYEES SUSPECTED IN THE FOREST HILL FIRE

(Associated Press Telegram)
Cleveland, Dec. 19.—Inspectors of the state fire marshal's office today were seeking two former employees of John D. Rockefeller's Forest Hill estate. They are suspected of having set fire to the Rockefeller summer home yesterday morning.

According to Tom Doreen, chief inspector for the Ohio fire marshal's department, the men were seen on the ground several times since they were discharged and he has evidence to show they were on the grounds two hours before the fire occurred.

Conviction that the fire was of incendiary origin came late last night when Doreen and other inspectors found empty five-gallon oil cans near the ruins of the house.

TENS OF THOUSANDS OF TRUCKS ORDERED BY THE GOVERNMENT

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, Dec. 19.—Completion of designs for standardizing all motor trucks and trailers needed by the government for peace as well as war-work was announced today by the quartermaster corps. Three classes of trucks have been provided, of which the class AA with 3-4-ton capacity was the last to be worked out by the 200 motor engineers who have contributed many new ideas. Manufacture of the class B truck, having a rated capacity of three tons, already has started after exhaustive tests of the sample cars. Three sample trucks of the class A variety capacity 1-2 tons, now are being tested. One left Detroit today for the plant of the Denby Motor Truck company and will be joined at Cleveland tomorrow by a second truck, the White company. They will be run to Ardmore, Pa., where a third from the factory of the Auto-car company will complete the party for the trial trip to Washington.

Plans for standard model tractors include one of three tons capacity, requested by General Pershing for early use in France. It will have only two wheels, according to present designs. Assembly already has started of a four-wheel trailer, 1-2 tons capacity, double-headed, at the plants of the Grant Motor Car company, Cleveland, and the Detroit Trailer company, Detroit. A third type will be devised for the special use of the signal corps to have two wheels and pneumatic tires.

Brigadier General Chauncey B. Baker has been in personal charge of standardizing the designs for government motor vehicles.

While the major portion of the new trucks will be put into war-work, some will be used by the post-office department and thousands will be turned over to civilian uses of the government when victory has been won.

Orders for the three classes of trucks will run into the tens of thousands. A preliminary order of 10,000 has been placed for the heavy class B vehicle.

SUBMARINE SUNK AFTER DESTROYING A FRENCH CRUISER

(Associated Press Telegram)
Paris, Tuesday, Dec. 18.—The old French cruiser Chateaufort, employed as a transport, was torpedoed and sunk in the Mediterranean on the morning of December 14, and the submarine which attacked her later was destroyed, according to announcement made tonight by the French minister of marine. The passengers on the Chateaufort, all of whom were either soldiers or officers, were saved. Ten members of the crew were lost.

The French cruiser Chateaufort was laid down in 1896. She was 442 feet long, with a beam of 55.7 feet and displaced 7,898 tons. Her complement before the war was 600 men. Besides being used as a cruiser the Chateaufort had been fitted as a mine-layer.

The raider known definitely to have been destroyed was hit by the fire of anti-aircraft guns and finally dropped into the sea off Kent. Two of the crew of three were captured alive by an armed trawler.

SUGAR INQUIRY ALSO HAS ITS INNING TODAY

Car Shortage Gets Blame For Present Market Situation

TESTIMONY BEFORE THE SENATE INVESTIGATORS

Given Today By President of the American Sugar Refining Co.

(Associated Press Telegram)
Washington, Dec. 19.—Car shortage and no attempts of refiners to manipulate supplies or prices were attributed as largely the cause of the sugar shortage by Earl D. Babst, president of the American Sugar Refining company, testifying today before the senate investigating committee. He refuted testimony of J. A. Spreckles that George M. Rolph, general manager of the California-Hawaii company, and director of the sugar division of the food administration, declined to allow supplies to come east from his own refinery at a time Spreckles was threatened with being forced to close his plant by saying that Rolph and another refiner offered to let Spreckles have 25,000 tons at the basis price set for Cuban sugar by the international committee.

Babst denied he had anything to do with fixing the price of beet sugar, and that he had any connection with setting the price for Louisiana sugar. He admitted, however, as Spreckles charged, that he attended conferences with the Louisiana planters and members of the food administration in Washington, but said that when prices were discussed he withdrew from the conference. He stated that he agreed with the planters to take a part of the crop at any price the administration fixed. Babst concurred in Spreckles' testimony that on the same day the price was fixed at the food administration headquarters here the planters came to his hotel and he contracted for 28,000 tons for immediate shipment. This was done before the fact that the price had been fixed was published, he said.

Spreckles charged that he was told to keep out of the Louisiana market by the food administration until the price was set and that he did not have a fair opportunity to get these supplies after the price agreement had been reached.

There is reason to believe another raider: dropped into the English channel, says the report.

A British pilot fired two drums of ammunition into a raider as it was dropping bombs on London from a height of 13,000 feet. After the main attacks of the raiders ceased a single airplane flew over London at about 9 o'clock.

REVOLTING TALE IS TOLD BY WOMAN IN WHITE SLAVE CASE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELICORAM)

Boston, Dec. 9.—Several federal officials from West Virginia were here today for the hearing before a United States commissioner in the case of John Johnson, a negro, charged with violation of the Mann white slave act. They brought with them as a witness Edith Godbey, whom Johnson is alleged to have unlawfully taken from West Virginia to Kentucky and back. The visiting officials sought the return of Johnson to West Virginia for trial in the federal court there.

On advice of counsel, Johnson declared: "I stand silent," when called upon to plead, and a plea of not guilty was entered.

Miss Godbey, on the witness stand, frankly told of her relations with Johnson, saying she first met him five years ago at the home of her washerwoman, where he gave her a drink of whiskey. The next thing she remembered, she testified, she was alone with Johnson, who threatened to kill her if she mentioned it to any person in Charleston. Her relations with the negro continued, she said, until December, 1916.

The witness declared that Johnson repeatedly attacked her—once with a knife, which was broken after the blade was driven into her arm and leg. She showed Commissioner Hayes a scar on the forearm which, she said, resulted from the wound inflicted by the negro.

In November, 1916, after she had been knocked down and kicked, Miss Godbey said she threatened Johnson with arrest and he promised to leave town if she would not complain to the police. She agreed, she said, and next heard from him by letter. Upon receipt of the letter the young woman said she went to Cattlesburg Ky. Johnson met her there and took her to a house where she stayed that night and the next day.

Miss Godbey said she returned to Charleston, using a railroad ticket bought by Johnson, who sat behind her on the train. Answering a question by Mr. Giddens she declared that she was still terrified by the negro and that she gave him $15, part of which she borrowed, with which to buy a suit of clothes.

STATE PROMISES PLENTY OF COAL FOR CONSUMERS

The legislative committee of the Newark Trades and Labor Assembly was at Columbus yesterday in the interest of securing an order from the state fuel administration department for the release of a sufficient number of cars of coal, that are in the local railroad yards, to relieve the coal situation in Newark, and ascertain whether our local needs would be met during the remainder of the winter season.

The state department assured the committee that they would not only order release a sufficient number of cars to supply the domestic needs at this time, but would see to it that the domestic needs were cared for during the season.

The committee was greatly gratified not only for receiving the promise that the local coal situation would be taken care of, but for the consideration given them and the courtesy extended, which was really beyond their expectations.

The matter was not taken up with the state department by the committee because of any dissatisfaction or objections to the manner in which Mr. Herzog, the local coal administrator, was conducting his department, but did desire to ascertain from the state authorities as to whether there was any assurance that the local domestic needs of coal would be supplied or the local situation in general be taken care of; if so, in what manner. They realized that the authority for the release of cars in particular could not be given except through that department and the committee met with success in this.

The action of Superintendent Stevens of the B. and O. R. Co., in releasing five cars of coal yesterday greatly assisted in relieving the present serious conditions and was very much appreciated by the committee. They consider it fortunate for Newark and the public in general that the railroad company has a local superintendent who is not only considerate in the city's progress, but has deep sympathy for the public and is public-spirited.

The members of the legislative committee in Columbus were: Frank Bailey, Joseph Dolan, Edward Streit and W. M. Morgan. Delegates to the Assembly, Fred Burnfield and Leonard Drumm, accompanied the committee.

NEWARK GLASS CO. TAKING MEASURES TO PROTECT FISH

Deputy State Game Warden J. W. Atwood of Zanesville, received a letter yesterday from the state fish and game commission, stating that the American bottle company of this city has purchased equipment to prevent the killing of the fish in the Licking river, resulting from liquid refuse from their factory.

Only recently the state fish and game commission distributed several thousand fish in the Muskingum and Licking rivers, while those placed in the Licking river died shortly afterward. After investigating the matter, Warden Atwood traced the cause to the local factory and the case was reported to the state officials, who in turn notified the company to provide means to protect the fish.

he said, is to learn what the navy has done and give it a clean bill of health in the facts warrant.

Secretary Daniels gave a general review of what the navy has been doing, avoiding, as he explained, disclosing any facts that would be of value to the enemy. He told how the navy is now building 424 capital and other important ships.

Discussing the use of submarine chasers, he said, they were regarded as a necessity and there was no great enthusiasm about them as a weapon for permanent effectiveness.

Naval aviation, he said, has made gratifying strides but has been hampered by lack of manufacturing facilities.

Secretary Daniels praised the coordination between the personnel of the navy and the personnel of the allies. One of the great problems he said, was to furnish gun crews to merchant ships.

"We made these reserve ships," said Mr. Daniels, "a school for gunners and the efficiency with which these officers have taken hold, on the young men and made the young men efficient is really one of the big things of the navy in this war."

"When you come to write the story of the war," said he, "one of the most thrilling chapters will be regarding these young men who went on the merchant ships and risked their lives. I refer to those who went on our own merchant ships, of course. We have put guns on every ship going into submarine war zone, that requested it."

"We are rather proud," the secretary continued, "of the way the navy has met the actual test of war. A taking of stock, so to speak, cannot fail to bring ways for still further improvement and for still more efficient work in the future. We feel we have done well but we still have problems, some of them very difficult, which we have been trying to solve in the best way possible in the very brief time allotted to solve them."

Secretary Daniels told how, in the exigencies at the outset of the war, keels had been laid where there were swamp lands but a few months before and how mechanical equipment had been developed.

Most contractors, he said, have been fair and patriotic.

"There have been a few," he said, "we had to take by the nap of the neck; they came in saying they wanted to do their bit but really wanted their bite."

He did not like the "cost plus 10 per cent." system he said, but it was the best the navy could do to get quick action and it has been necessary.

Ostriches Waltz in Desert.

One of the oddest sights on the sandy stretches of a plain in southern Africa is a party of waltzing ostriches. When there are a number of them they will start off, and after running a few hundred yards, will stop and, with raised wings, will whirl rapidly round until they are supplied, or perhaps break a leg. The males pose also before fighting. They kneel on their ankles, opening their wings, and balancing themselves alternately forward and backward, or to one side or the other, while the neck is stretched out on a level with the back and the head strikes the sides, now on the right, now on the left, while the feathers are bristling. The bird appears at this time so absorbed in its occupation as to forget all that is going on around him, and can be approached and caught. The male alone utters a cry, which sounds much like an effort to speak with the mouth shut tight.

Wrong Valuations.

After all, most of us place a wrong valuation on the things of life, observes an investigator. Many of us are made miserable by the fear of ridicule, others by fear of censure, fear of public opinion, fear of failure—these are stumbling blocks in the way of many who long for success. Faith can remove mountains. Difficulties that have seemed altogether insurmountable give way before courage. The person who has high faith, deep and abiding courage, faith in oneself and in human nature, courage as a shield against misfortune, will never lose the fight, permanently, whatever it may be. For what one loses in material things one will gain in character, and character is all that is needed in this world for any real and lasting success.

Company Did Not Count.

Elizabeth was accustomed to having her papa put her to bed. One evening when her father returned from the office he found several women with his wife who were busy in some committee work. Elizabeth was sleepy and, at once asked papa to put her to bed. He in whispered conference told her it would not be nice to leave their company and go to bed, and then proceeded to relate some pretty stories fitting to the pictures of a magazine which he had brought with him. After a time the stories became dull to Elizabeth, and, the committee being still engaged in work, she pulled her papa's head down and said, "Papa, please let's go up to bed; these folks are no company of ours."

Bell Silent Forty Years.

Silent for more than forty years, a big bell hangs in the tower of the Jefferson Market Court building in New York city, and comparatively few persons know of its existence. More than half a century ago in Greenwich village, on the site of the court building, there was a tower in which hung a fire alarm bell. In this tower near the bell always was stationed a watchman to sound the alarm whenever, in looking out over the village, he espied a fire. When the present court building was completed in 1876, the old bell was set in the tower, but from that day out its voice was hushed. This bell weighs five tons and measures eight feet across the mouth.

Make Your Dreams Count.

There are two kinds of dreamers—the dreamer who merely dreams and the dreamer who puts his dreams into deeds. The man who has not his dreams is the man who will have very little to show in justification of his existence when the final balance is struck and the book of his life is closed. The man who has lived in dreams without deeds will show an equally sterile account. All of the world's great facts grew out of some man's or some woman's dream—a dream cherished and made into a reality.—Exchange.

NEARLY 6,000 RED CROSS MEMBERS SECURED IN THREE HOURS BY PUPILS OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS

The campaign for membership in the American Red Cross carried on yesterday by pupils of the public schools surpassed the expectations of those having the matter in charge. The drive was made for five thousand memberships to be secured by public school pupils in addition to memberships secured by pupils of the parochial schools. Children of the elementary schools above the fifth grade and all pupils of the high school were asked to work. The superintendent of schools expected that the elementary schools would raise three thousand memberships and that the high school would raise two thousand. Both have exceeded their quota. At ten o'clock today, the elementary schools report 3,305 and the high school 2,100 making a total of 5,405. This will probably reach 6,000 before the week is over. The following is the report of buildings at ten o'clock today.

High School	2,100
Woodside	445
Central	710
Conrad	200
Fourth Street	530
Maholm	340
Mound	140
Mill	170
East Main	290
Hudson	158
Hartzer	280
Riverside	42
Total	5,405

Central school reports the largest number of memberships of any elementary school.

Eighth grade at Fourth street (Miss Avey, teacher) and eighth grade at Maholm (Miss Eichorn, teacher) reports the largest number of memberships for individual schools.

It is not yet definitely settled which room of the high school will report the largest number of memberships. This rests between session rooms in charge of Mr. Moninger, Miss Wotringer and Miss Moore.

The largest number of memberships received by any pupil in the high school is contested for by Ray Roach and Robert Garrison, not yet decided. Both have received over 20. The largest number of memberships received by any pupil in the elementary schools is contested for by Fleek Miller, Robert Avey Dolores Richards, and Mildred Parks, each of whom received over 25.

The first grade pupils in Central School (Miss Koos, teacher) secured 40 memberships for other rooms of that building.

Every teacher and principal of the city was a loyal worker. Newark has reason to be proud of the loyalty of its teachers and children.

The campaign lasted only four hours and children were out of school only three hours. Over five thousand people were seen in this time.

One of the most satisfactory results is the fact that easily one-half of all members are new members.

BOB UPSET AND DUMPED PARTY IN SNOWDRIFT

Louis ("Red") Palmer, residing east of the city, and a well-known employee at the Wehrle plant, will never "get up" another sleighing party—at least not until he recovers from the one which he arranged for last evening.

Mr. Palmer had an invitation to bring a load out to Tom Keller's, northwest of the city, and having a fine team, but no bobsled, he arranged to borrow one from a neighbor residing a couple of miles from his place. He then invited about 20 of his intimate friends and the party was on.

The manager of the bobsled had boasted of what a good time everyone would have and all agreed to meet at the home of a friend and await his appearance. They waited all right until about 9 o'clock when he came dashing up to the home with a big bobsled and a fiery team. He apologized for his lateness by stating that he had to put the sled together and it took much time.

The start was then made for the Keller home, and when within sight of the lights of same the driver let a rein slip and in an instant there were 20 people struggling in a snowdrift, for the bobsled upset along an embankment. A start was made and after going some distance it was discovered that Herbert Nell, well-known pressman at the Tribune, was missing. Searchers went back and found him buried in the snow and almost suffocated.

The party finally arrived at the Keller home at 10:30 o'clock and then it was discovered that "Red" in his eagerness to get away had forgotten the oysters. Mr. and Mrs. Keller, however, prepared an excellent luncheon and everybody had a good time, returning home after midnight. Mr. Palmer stating that he never again would propose "getting up" a bobsled party.

TO RESIST THE ATTACK

of the germs of many diseases, such as Grip, Malaria, means for all of us—fight or die. These germs are everywhere in the air we breathe. The odds are in favor of the germs, if the liver is inactive and the blood impure.

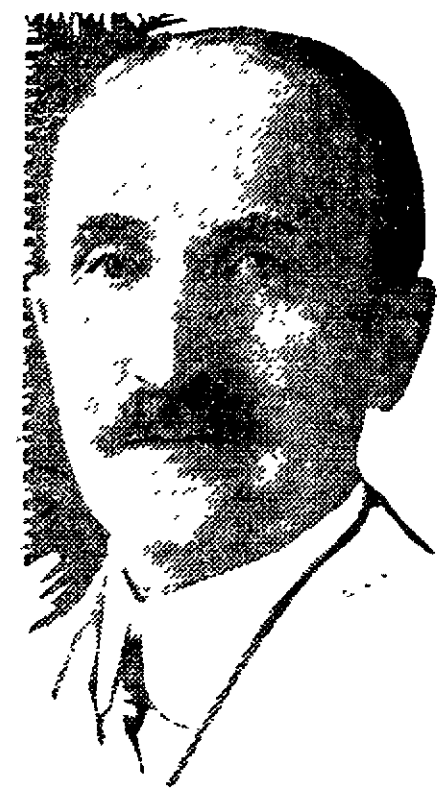

What is needed most is an increase in the germ-fighting strength. To do this successfully you need to put on healthy flesh, rouse the liver to vigorous action, so it will throw off these germs, and purify the blood so that there will be no "weak spot," or soil for germ-growth. We claim for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery that it does all this in a way peculiar to itself.

It cures troubles caused by torpid liver and impure blood.

HARRIS STATION, OHIO.—"During part of October and November last I was very much out of vigor and strength. Excessive duties had reduced my vitality until I could scarcely do my chores, much less the labor so much needed on the place. I was nervous, dizzy and weak, had pain in back and hip, general soreness of the muscles, etc., but I felt certain it was only a run-down condition and I knew the effective qualities of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery Tablets so I got a small box and took them, getting quick and wonderful relief. I got the second box at my drug store but did not use all of it because I did not feel the need. Now I can work with ease and pleasure. I most heartily and cheerfully recommend the 'Discovery.'"—W. A. ROBERTS, R. F. D. 1.

REYNOLDSBURG, OHIO.—"We have used Doctor Pierce's medicines in our family for over forty years and found them very satisfactory for all troubles for which they are recommended. We have found Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets one of the best things to regulate the bowels."—L. W. TUSSENG.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

SOLDIERS' LETTERS
Fred E. Bowers, Co. L, 166th U. S. Infantry, American Expeditionary Force in France, writing to his mother under date of Nov 22 says in part: "It has been some time since I have heard from you but I have been thinking of you all the time. I am feeling just fine, and getting along well, and surely am getting fat. You ought to see me, you would hardly know me. Everything is going along well at the present time, and we surely had a fine ride across the sea. Much was done for us to keep us from getting lonesome on the way over. We arrived in France safe and sound and found everything in good shape. This country is surely a swell place. Give all my Newark friends my best regards."

Mrs. Harry Ingram, of Wilson street, has just received a letter from her brother, Corporal Clarence Westenhouser, Co. L, 166th U. S. Infantry, 42nd Div. 83rd Brig. A. E. F., France. He says in part: "Don't worry about me. I am O. K. and when we hit that firing line look out, you Germans. The war will be over then, at least we hope so. This country isn't what I expected to see. The houses are built of stone and mud with tile roofs. This little town we are in, seems to me to be about a thousand years behind the times. This country is not fenced off like American farms. You go miles and don't see any fences at all. There are wild boars and other wild animals over here. I will tell you about our home. It is in a hay mow. Plenty of straw and a cot to sleep on and plenty of covers to keep warm. The people seem to be very poor here in this town, but they are very kind to us, and when we get cold they let us come into their houses to get warm and are very nice to us. Are you getting the money I am sending? The people have a hard time making us understand them, and we have an equally hard time making them understand us. I guess that I have told you all that I am allowed to tell in a letter." (Cor. Westenhouser, while in Newark lived in Arch street and was employed at the Midland Shoe Factory. He enlisted at Lancaster, O., last June.)

TEAM-WORK AT WASHINGTON.

People who are following the work of the war administration at Washington will be interested to note that the Boston News Bureau, a leading financial authority, recently contained an editorial utterance commending the work of Secretary of War Baker and Secretary of the Navy Daniels, as men who have made good.

These men were confronted with an exigency of terrible difficulty. They have been the target of bitter criticism. But they have stuck right to their business, paid little attention to attack, and the war-work is going forward better than any of our allies has been able to make it. The cabinets of the European powers keep changing, and no one statesman seems to last a long time. Meanwhile we keep along with the same cabinet who are working harmoniously toward the same end. It is a remarkable example of teamwork to be able to get along with so few changes.

It is poor policy to keep shifting executive managements in a time of great strain. The longer a man stays on a job, if he is any good, the better his grasp of a situation. He may make mistakes, but he sees them as quickly as his critics, and he does not make those mistakes again. While if a new man is put on in response to popular clamor, he has to learn the business from the ground up, and make a lot of his own mistakes before he gets a grip on things.

No doubt this is what has led President Wilson to keep along without changes. He knew the men who had stuck by him through his first administration had a good grasp of the situation, and could do more than outsiders who would have to learn the whole thing new. Every week that goes by gives these men added experience, and straightens out the tangles in the war fabric.

A Christmas present for each man in the American army in France has arrived at a European port. This announcement is made by the war department. These packages have been going forward several weeks, and now all is in readiness for General Pershing and his assistants to play Santa Claus for their soldiers. The number of men—likewise the number of presents—in France is military information valuable to the enemy, but it is stated that if the presents sent to France were put end-to-end they would form a continuous line from Washington to New York, which statement indicates that the number of Americans in France is much larger than the average man supposes.

It is reported that a device has been invented to enable automobiles to burn kerosene, but the dealers so far have carelessly failed to double the price.

WHY BUY THRIFT STAMPS?

The United States government is issuing two billion dollars worth of Thrift Stamps and War Savings Certificates for 1918. Ohio is expected to buy $106,000,000 worth and Licking county $1,100,000 worth of these stamps. That means $20 for every resident of the county.

Thrift Stamps are issued in one denomination, 25 cents only, but the plan provides that one may exchange sixteen Thrift Stamps for a 4 per cent War Savings Certificate by adding 12 cents on or before January 31, and if the exchange is not made until February 13 cents must be added, the amount increasing one-cent a month during the year 1918.

Thrift Stamps bear no interest, but the War Savings Certificates do. The latter are nontaxable, they may be registered without charge, and they are redeemable at the option of the buyer at the full price paid for them, plus approximately 3 per cent interest, but if they are left until maturity in 1923, the owner gets 4 per cent compounded quarterly. Thus it will be seen that the certificates afford a better investment than Liberty bonds in that the interest is greater, they are tax-free and may be exchanged for money at any time. The full protection and guarantee of the United States government is behind these Thrift Stamps and War Savings Certificates just as Uncle Sam stands behind the bonds. In fact, these stamps are nothing more or less than "Baby Liberty Bonds."

The great value of the Thrift Stamps and War Savings Certificates lies in the fact that they offer a way for the masses to save their money, and in doing so help not only themselves but their government. The working man or woman and even the children here have an opportunity to invest their savings wisely and with perfect security. At the same time the issue offers an attractive investment for the person of large means. While nobody will be permitted to the stamps, plus almost 3 per cent interest. The certificates just as member of a family may have a thousand dollars worth if they are fortunate enough to have that much money to invest.

It takes $82.40 to the postoffice today he can buy with it twenty $5 stamps worth on January 1, 1923, one hundred dollars—an investment making a profit of $17.60. If he finds later that he needs the money before January 1, 1923, he can get all he paid for the stamps, plus almost 3 per cent interest. The certificates just as good—yes, better than money, may be registered so that the owner is fully protected.

This Thrift Stamp campaign differs from the Liberty Loan offering in that it is to continue throughout the year. It is not intended that one shall go to the postoffice and buy one or twenty stamps and then quit, but rather to buy some of the stamps now and then continue to buy stamps often, just as frequently as possible out of one's savings or earnings. The main object is to teach our people to save and to make the best possible use of their savings by loaning it to the government. Every Thrift Stamp is a mortgage on the United States. Uncle Sam owes money to every owner of Thrift Stamp and a War Savings Certificate and he will pay it back with compound interest.

In a little while the Thrift Stamps will be just as easy to buy as a cigar or a box of matches. Everybody will have them and they are to be obtained at all of the stores and banks and elsewhere.

Owing to the number of stamps the government asks the people of Licking county to buy it will be necessary for the war savings committee to carry the message into every corner of Licking county and to induce everybody to start a savings account with Uncle Sam. The government looks to the patriots of each community to finance their own campaign and it will be manifestly impossible to carry on a campaign of education to success unless there is a fund for advertising and for the other expense attending the whole year's activity. All of the committeemen will give their time and their effort without compensation and the newspapers will be very generous with their space, but nevertheless a considerable sum of money is needed if the work is to be properly done. A full accounting of the receipts and expenditures will be made in the press. Cash contributions to this expense fund are invited and may be sent now to Charles C. McGruder, secretary of the Licking County War Savings committee, in care of the Home Building Association, Newark, Ohio.

I remember, in buying Thrift Stamps and War Savings Certificates, you are making no donation. You are simply making the very best possible investment. At the same time you are helping the soldier boys and are helping your country to win the war. The government expects 30,000,000 thrifty Americans to take advantage of the opportunity for a safe, profitable and patriotic investment and every dollar derived from the sale of Thrift Stamps and War Savings Certificates will be devoted to the great work of making the world safe for democracy. Under these circumstances who can refuse or fail to start a savings account with Uncle Sam at once?

C. H. Spencer.

Chairman Licking County War Savings Committee.

MRS. HOOVER'S ADVICE.

Women must create a demand for bran, wholewheat, and corn breads, until they are put on the menu of hotels and restaurants not only on wheatless days, but for constant use by patriotic food-savers, according to a statement by Mrs. Hoover, wife of the United States food administrator.

She feels that many people will acquire the habit of eating coarse-grained breads, if they have the opportunity of ordering them on six days of the week, instead of one.

Other advice of Mrs. Hoover to American women, is to stir the imagination of servants and people before whom they are demonstrating, to appreciate that their saving food actually conserves it for starving people. "There is some individual who is unknowingly dependent upon you for life," she says. "It may be a soldier in the trenches, it may be a little child. It may be a peasant woman, who will not have anything to eat, next spring, if you do not think of them now."

WINNING THE WAR.

The collapse of Russia has lengthened the war one year. The Lenten army along the eastern front, estimated at 3,000,000 men, is being transferred. The Germans will need a small skeleton of troops along the Russian front. But it would seem as if 3,000,000 men, or at least 1,000,000, could hold down Russia's half-way and star-scarred 100,000,000 population.

That leaves about 2,000,000 to 2,500,000 available to transfer against the four allies on the west. Of course, troops have been drawn from Russia all the time for the last six months. They have had hundreds of thousands to throw against Italy, and have lost a lot of them. They had plenty of troops against the English offensive at Cambrai. It

LIKE ACCIDENTS FREQUENTLY HAVE OCCURRED.

(New York Times.)
It is not only in Halifax that there exists a good deal of something between a suspicion and a belief that German plotters were concerned, directly or indirectly, in bringing about the explosion that wrecked the city. But for this feeling there is, as yet at least, no foundation in fact, and there are only two excuses—the knowledge that not a few explosions and fires, helpful, like this one, to Germany, have been the work of her servants on this side of the water and, second, the difficulty that landmen have in understanding why two vessels, in broad daylight, each aware of the other's approach and with room to pass, should collide.

Neither of these excuses is adequate as basis for suspicion and still less do they justify belief. It is next to inconceivable that German money or devotion could sufficiently influence the number of men required for bringing those two ships together intentionally to make them take the risks involved risks the extent of which is disclosed by the fatalities suffered by their crews. As for the possibility of a collision in the circumstances described, that has been revealed again and again in New York harbor and in every other. And always there has been the same explanation of "signals misunderstood," and the same attempts by the officers of each of the ships in collision to prove that the misunderstanding was not by themselves but by the others. That such accidents occur can hardly be due either to negligence or to stupidity, for those are not the qualities that raise men to the command of vessels. They seem to result from an intrinsic weakness in the system of nautical signals used all over the world—a weakness apparently irremediable, else would it have been remedied long ago.

The men on the Ina make the curious statement—curious because they seem to make it as explaining why greater care was not taken—that the Mont Blanc carried no visible indication of the nature of her cargo. Why a ship so laden should not do so while in the European war zone is easily comprehensible, but a special warning while in a friendly port might have been expedient.

THE UNANSWERABLE ARGUMENT.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer.)
"Doesn't he look splendid?"
The speaker was a woman. The scene was in a street car. The object of the conversation, as one may easily imagine, was a soldier at home on furlough from one of the training camps. The remark is typical, and significant. It is an omen.

Never again will the American people allow themselves to be caught as thoroughly unprepared in a military sense for a grave international crisis as they were when the issues of the present conflict first pressed upon them. Preparedness is no longer a debatable question. All shades of intelligent opinion favor it. The end of the war will bring a sense of tremendous relief. It will not, however, remove the necessity of maintaining the nation's defense adequately strong for any future emergency.

Fortunately for the state of the public mind the government is now demonstrating in the various training camps the kind of treatment an enlightened democracy gives the men it calls into the military service, and every soldier who returns home on furlough is an upstanding testimonial as to what a policy of universal military training will do for the youth of America. The moral, mental and physical training these men are receiving, the fine discipline they are undergoing, the keener outlook on life and life's responsibilities that is given them, all argue mightily for a system of manhood training that will guarantee to the republic the respect of the world.

It is a happy circumstance that the people of the United States have an opportunity to observe the benefits that attend military training, the necessity that prompts the experiment cannot be too deeply regretted. Parents who see the splendid results attending camp life are changing opinions as to universal training. Every soldier on furlough is an argument for some such plan of military preparedness as that which Switzerland has developed to its own advantage and glory. There is promise for the future of America in the oft repeated:

"Doesn't he look splendid?"

Time to Join the Army.
If, on this coming Christmas morn, a cablegram is flashed around the world telling that 15,000,000 patriotic Americans are enrolled as members of the American Red Cross, the German Kaiser will be made to realize that a great people, moving in a mass in an opposite direction to his, are more sure than he that they are going "onward with God." That is the mark set by the War Council and administration officials of the National Red Cross officials at Washington. To complete such a great roster of names, 10,000,000 people, men and women are needed as new members.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Christmas Gifts.
When December comes with its talk about Santa Claus, Life becomes a burden to most of our mas and pas. The heart is overflowing with love, and giving. Their purses most empty with the high cost of living. The merchants have their windows most attractively dressed, With thousands of beautiful things the day of glad cheer. Margaret sees shippers and Archibald sees skates. While both heads are filled with visions of love best.

Mary sees kid gloves, Tommy a coast-er sled, And another school coat warm for the little Ned. Father hears them talk and covertly heaves a great sigh. Kisses his afflurging gift dream a fond good by.

Show father you are pleased with the gift of love. Will go a long way his o'er taxed nerves to relieve. To mother a glad, "Thank you my dear." Will keep her heart smiling through-out the whole year.

But if winter time comes growl and frowningly complain. Will make them both wish Christmas never would come again. Willie Winn.

What Onslaught of Italy Means.
The crushing of Italy would not end the war, but it would have a political and moral effect more potent than the military decision. GRANVILLE

(Special to The Advocate.)

Granville, O., Dec. 19.—Once again has the old town risen nobly to her opportunity by subscribing liberally to the Red Cross drive for memberships—which was made Tuesday afternoon by means of the public schools of town and township. Last evening Mrs. Ernest Woodward, chairman of the organization, enlisted the school children for service, had received in cash $755, with six school districts yet to report. Rev. E. D. Barnes had enrolled many members on pledges which are not counted in the result, and Mrs. Woodward feels sure that the quota will run well over $800. Every home in the village as well as in the school districts was entered by these young patriots who received very few refusals. The primary grade bears the palm, having secured 87 memberships with the accompanying dollars. Practically every home in the village will display the Red Cross service flag, many with the white star denoting full membership.

Too much cannot be said in praise of Mrs. Woodward's efficiency and initiative in the perfect organization effected in so brief a time, nor of the devoted co-operation of teachers and pupils in carrying out the plans. The parade of the schools at 1 o'clock was a credit to any town, with the various branches of army service indicated.

As the three or four hundred children marched by, these potential soldiers and nurses, these young citizens of our free America, one lifted his heart in silent prayer that they may be spared the horrors of this war which has blighted the lives of so many thousands of children in other lands, and that they may live in undisturbed enjoyment of their heritage through the bravery and devotedness of their "older brothers," now in camp and at the front.

A. F. W. and Red Cross headquarters fairly hummed with activity all day Tuesday, and the afternoon meeting called out an unusually large attendance. In the rear room, devoted to Red Cross, surgical dressings, two long tables made to order in up to date style had been placed by Mrs. J. S. Jones and were being tested by busy Red Cross workers. Heaps of pajamas and other supplies spoke eloquently of the unceasing industry of devoted workers, both at home and at headquarters. At the business meeting it was decided to omit next Tuesday's meeting, which is Christmas day. The following Tuesday, New Year's, the members will keep open house, receiving calls from the men and serving refreshments during the afternoon. Arthur C. Williams who has served in the front line trenches, was present and spoke to the company of his experiences, which were thrilling to the extreme. On conclusion of his talk he was greeted with a token of appreciation from the organization, not only for his talk but for his supreme service in the cause of humanity.

One of the most enjoyable social affairs of the season was the supper and Christmas tree at the Kappa Phi sorority house last evening. Only active members and resident alumnae of the chapter were present, and the girls were all "for the house," animated a delightful spirit of good cheer animated the entire company.

A number of Granville people will attend the concert of the New York Philharmonic in the Auditorium in Newark this evening. Elsa Hirschberg-Deermont, who will sing with the orchestra, is remembered as a student of the Granville conservatory in her "beginner's days" and much interest is felt in her performance.

The King's Daughters at their regular business meeting, reported the net receipts from their bazaar to have been $27. A hearty vote of thanks to Manager's Austin and Coe attested the appreciation of all for the generosity of these gentlemen, who have given so many evidences of public spirit in helping promote local and patriotic enterprises. The rooms will be open on Saturday at 2 p. m., when the sale of articles left from the bazaar will be concluded. Christmas plans for distributing gifts have been perfected and will be carried out as heretofore.

LET THIS CREAM, N. J. CURE YOUR PIMPLES

For several weeks past Evans' Cut Rate Drug Store has done a big business in selling Hokers, the skin healer that has won so many friends in Newark.
It has been found to heal not only all minor skin troubles, such as pimples, blackheads, herpes, acne, scaly scalp, complexion blemishes, itching feet, piles, etc., but also the worst sores, ulcers, or even chronic eczema and salt rheum. There is yet to be found any form of wound or disease affecting the skin or mucous membrane that Hokers does not help, and its action is so quick that those who try it are simply delighted with it right from the start.
In spite of its unusual curative powers, the price is trifling. To convince every one of its merits, T. J. Evans, druggist, will sell a liberalized jar for 35 cents. And remember that if you do not think it does what it claims, you can get your money back. You certainly can afford to try it on this plan.

TAX OFFICER TO VISIT NEWARK IN COUPLE OF WEEKS

In a communication received by this paper, Collector of Internal Revenue B. E. Williamson announces that a federal income tax officer will be sent into this county on January 2, 1918, and will be here until January 21. He will have his office in the Court House and will be there every day ready and willing to help persons subject to the income tax make out their returns without any cost to them for his services.
How many income-tax payers will there be in Licking county? If you can guess how many married persons living with wife or husband will have net incomes of $2,000 or over and how many unmarried persons will have net incomes of $1,000 or over this year, then you know. The Collector of Internal Revenue estimates that there will be 1,667 taxpayers in this county.
Returns of income for the year 1917 must be made on forms provided for the purpose before March 1, 1918. Because a good many people don't understand the law and won't know how to make out their returns, the government is sending in this expert to do it for them. But the duty is on the taxpayer to make himself known to the government. If he doesn't make return as required before March 1 he may have to pay a penalty ranging from $20 to $100, pay a fine or go to jail. So if you don't want to take chances on going to jail, you better call on the income tax man. If you are not sure about being subject to the tax, better ask him and make sure. Whether you see the income tax man or not, you must make return if subject to tax.
Of course, persons resident in other counties may, if they want to, come and see the income tax man in this city.
The collector suggests that everybody start figuring up now his income and expenses so as to be ready with the figures when the expert arrives. Expenses, however, don't

TWO PAIRS TWINS MADE BIG LOT OF WORK FOR MOTHER

Caused Mrs. Harris to Be All Run-Down — Nerv-Worth Came to the Rescue.
A royal friend of overworked women is this famous family tonic. The very newest and one of the very strongest proofs of its wonderful merits is the following statement made to the Nerv-Worth druggist at New Castle, Pa., a short time ago:
"New Castle Pharmacy—My wife has suffered from severe nervous trouble for four years. Could not sleep and get any rest. Was all run-down from looking after my two boys, four years old, and another pair of twins, nine months old. She doctored a great deal but got no relief. Through a friend she was advised to take Nerv-Worth. I purchased a bottle and she at once began to improve. And now, after taking the second bottle she has lost all her nervousness and is rapidly gaining in weight and strength. We surely recommend Nerv-Worth as it has been a blessing to us."

WARM SOCKS FOR BOARD MEMBERS LOCAL SCHOOLS

The board of education met in regular session last evening in the office of Supt. Wilson Hawkins in the High School with Hon. Wm. E. Miller presiding. Others present were S. W. Haight, W. C. Christian, J. M. Mitchell and Clerk Ben Montgomery.
The reports last evening showed that pupils of the High School had received $3,000 in Red Cross subscriptions up until 3 o'clock in the afternoon and the pupils of the elementary school $1,480, a total of $4,480. It is expected that they will have raised $5,000 by noon today.
It took out last evening that members of the board, together with Supt. Wilson Hawkins are to be presented with fine woolen socks by the pupils of the knitting class, which is under the direction of Miss Edith Clark, superintendent of the domestic science branch of the High School. It will show the progress made by the pupils of the knitting class who have been busy in preparing many things for the soldier boys in the trenches. It is unnecessary to state that the gift will be appreciated.
Supt. Hawkins addressed the board in a brief talk telling of the excellent progress made during the last semester and the splendid shape in which all buildings are at present. He also recommended that the Christmas vacation for the pupils start Friday and that school resume Wednesday, Jan. 2, and his suggestions were adopted.
Principal O. J. Barnes thanked the members on behalf of the teachers for the salary raise which had been given them. Superintendent of Supplies Frank Handel made a brief report and all of the members and Supt. Hawkins were presented with fancy writing pads, made by the pupils of the art department, of which Miss Edith McCoy is the efficient teacher.
Life is a cocktail composed of two parts flattery, one part tact, and a dash of common sense.

TELLS HOW TO BUILD SYSTEM UP

If Kidneys, Stomach, Appetite and Strength Need Building Up, Lumberman Tells How to Gain Back Health.
MANY FRIENDS OF HIS ENDORSE WHAT HE SAYS.
"I want to tell folks who wake up in the mornings with aches across their back, weak kidneys, and lost appetite and energy, how to get relief," declared Clyde Lafon, a well known lumberman of Waiteville, W. Va.
"I suffered that way for months and my back would feel so stiff on waking up and pain me so much I suffered awfully. My kidneys bothered me and urinating was painful. I was weak and thin and would often get real sick at my stomach. My appetite wasn't much either, but I want to say that Acid Iron Mineral is the thing for people 'roubled like that. I took some of it and it did more good than any medicine I ever used and I always keep it in my home. Lots of people I know have also been helped. It builds your system up and makes anyone hearty and stout," continued Mr. Lafon.
Acid Iron Mineral is the highly concentrated product of a natural medicinal iron deposit. There is no alcohol or narcotics added and it does not affect the bowels or liver, upsetting the system.
It is stronger, much cheaper, better iron medicine. A few drops to a teaspoonful mixed in a glass of water makes a wonderful tonic and iron medicine for blood, rheumatism, kidneys, digestion, and whole system generally. Lots of people in this state recommend it. Get a bottle today.

Miss A. M. Clish Tells How She Recovered From Rheumatism That Deformed Joints.

MISS CLISH ON CRUTCHES.

"I take walks of miles several times a month," said Miss A. M. Clish of 807 Montello St., Brockton, Mass.
"My strength was exhausted and my stomach in a very weakened condition. Friends insisted that I try Var-ne-sis as I seemed to be growing worse. After taking two bottles of Var-ne-sis my stomach improved wonderfully, my strength returned so that I could use my crutches. I persisted in the treatment until I was able to bend my knee and go up and down stairs without any trouble.
"I am glad to say I am now doing housework and able to go about as well as ever. I have given W. A. Varney my crutches to add to his collection in Boston. No matter how damp and stormy the weather happens to be I am entirely free from pain."
W. A. Varney said: "I wish I could convey to sufferers from rheumatism what Var-ne-sis is doing. I wish I could bring them face to face with those who have recovered through Var-ne-sis."
"I am constantly producing evidence that Var-ne-sis conquers chronic rheumatism and I ask that sufferers from this disease investigate each case. Var-ne-sis does not contain salicylates, opiates, soda, iodides, capsicum-pepper, or any of the usual anti-rheumatic drugs. It tends to help the stomach and can not harm the heart."

WHY I BELIEVE IN NUXATED IRON

A Strength-Builder for the Nation.

By E. Sauer, M. D.
Probably no remedy has ever met with such phenomenal success as has Nuxated Iron. It is conservatively estimated that over three million people annually are taking it in this country alone. It has been highly endorsed and used by former United States Senators and Members of Congress. Physicians who have been connected with well-known hospitals have prescribed and recommended it. Hon. George N. Briggs, a prominent Catholic Clergyman, recommends it to all members of the Catholic Church. Former Health Commissioner Wm. R. Lester, of Chicago, says it ought to be used in every hospital and prescribed by every physician. Surgeon General D. H. S. Smith, the world's most noted doctor, has ordered a large quantity sent to the French soldiers to help give them strength, power and endurance.

Dr. A. J. Newman, late Police Surgeon of the City of Chicago, and former Health Commissioner of Park Hospital, Chicago, says Nuxated Iron has proven through his own tests of it to excel any preparation he has ever used for creating red blood, building up the nerves, strengthening the muscles and correcting digestive disorders.

Dr. H. B. Vail, formerly Physician in the Baltimore Hospital and a Medical Examiner, says that time and again he has prescribed Nuxated Iron and surprised patients at the rapidity with which the weakness and general debility were replaced by a renewed feeling of strength and vitality.

If you are not strong or well, you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times a day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained.

NOTE—Nuxated Iron, which has been used by former Members of the United States Senate and House of Representatives, and other prominent people with such surprising results and which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians in such a great variety of cases, is not a patent medicine nor secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists and whose ingredients are widely prescribed by eminent physicians everywhere. Unlike the older iron tonic products it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black nor upset the stomach on the contrary it is a most potent remedy in nearly all forms of indigestion as well as for nervous, run-down conditions. The manufacturers have such great confidence in Nuxated Iron that they offer to forfeit $100 to any charitable institution if they cannot take any man or woman under 60 who has taken it and increase their strength 10 per cent or over in four weeks time provided they have no serious organic trouble. They also offer to refund your money if it does not at least double your strength and endurance in ten days time. It is dispensed by all good druggists.—Advertisement

GREET'S GERMAN! SHELL AS JOKE

How Pershing Men Conduct Themselves in Trenches.

JUST MISS GENERAL'S AUTO

Chauffeur Ducks Head, Dons "Tin Hat" and Sticks to Wheel—Labyrinth of Trenches Is Just Like Main Street to American Soldiers—Gun Forces Huns to Lose Laundry.

"The Boche just came close enough," was the way a certain American colonel smilingly described the visit of a German shell which recently struck his headquarters.

The colonel at that time was working in his "office" at headquarters, a chateau near the trenches. Orderlies were coming and going. A dozen officers were working in various rooms. Suddenly the German shell crashed into the roof and exploded half way down the second floor.

The explosion smashed windows everywhere and scattered a rain of plaster over the colonel's bed.

Two minutes later we found the colonel standing on his steps looking the building over and gingerly handling some hot fragments of the shell. One hour before the German shell struck home an American general had left his automobile near the chateau and walked 100 yards away, when a shell struck near the car. The automobile was showered with mud and stones. The American army chauffeur ducked his head, donned his "tin hat" and stuck to his wheel.

A zig-zagging ditch, walled in with hand-woven twigs, khaki-clad Sammies standing on the firing step—this is America's first line.

Know Trench Labyrinth.

It winds like a brown scar across the face of the hill. Sammies, peering cautiously over the parapet, have an unobstructed view across a valley to where the Boche is sulking in his own front line trenches.

America's front line in the land branch of the battle for democracy is not just a plain ditch. To the uninitiated it is a labyrinth of twists and turns and holes and mounds. But to Sammy, it is as simple as Main Street, back home. He knows every dugout, every traverse, every listening post.

Standing on the fire-step at one place in the trench beside a Nebraska soldier, I strained by eyes across death valley to where the enemy holds forth. It was a dank, tangled tangle. Weeds run wild for three years, luxuriated there. A battered village stands midway, awaiting the day of reclamation. It was still. Not a sign of movement showed anywhere. Nothing moved over where the German trenches were.

Suddenly an American gun cracked twice. Shells shuffled instantaneously over us and detonated "over there" in wriggly puffball fashion. Perhaps unseen Boches were sent scurrying underground by its wicked fragments.

A crow wheeling in midair was struck by a bit of this shrapnel. He dropped to the earth like a plummet.

"There ain't any use writing about that to the home folks," said the tall Nebraska soldier. "They wouldn't believe me if I told it to 'em."

We passed on down the trench. A Memphis (Tenn.) machine gunner was our next acquaintance.

"There are plenty of ducks in Death valley," he volunteered, after someone had mentioned the crow incident. "There's a small lake midway over No Man's Land, and they gather around there."

From somewhere an American sniper's rifle cracked the deep stillness and then quiet settled down again. In growing shadows we passed on down the trench. As we stopped, there came abruptly the unmistakable whistling of shells, then instantly three bangs as the three shots struck a hundred yards away, near the first line. There were no casualties.

Immediately the American guns took up the challenge, measure for measure. Then it was quiet again.

That brief interchange suggested inquiry as to what took place in the first lines when shells came over. A Wyoming boy proudly showed his dugout.

Huns Lose Their Laundry.
"It accommodates thirty-eight of us, also a million rats," he remarked with a grin. "And I forgot the dozen or so cats."

We passed still farther along—and got by a machine-gun post just in time to see the little death-dealer rattle a lively barrage over against a German village where the Boches were seen to be hanging out their shirts on a clothes-line. The Huns fled—leaving their laundry.

Reaching the end of the American sector, we turned to the rear. A tomb-like stillness reigned at that moment. It was so quiet that the loudest sound was the water splashing and swishing under the "duck-boards" (lattice work pavements) beneath our feet.

Half an hour later the lull was broken. The Boches started a sudden spasm of artillerying. They hurled 50 shrapnel shells with a drum-fire, speed—25 a minute, perhaps. Distant thumps and red flashes near us showed the American gun volley sent painstakingly in reply.

Then it was still again.

Don't throw mud. Wait till it dries up and go out for the dust.

She has accepted a position as clerk to the auditor of the Pershing expedition in France. Miss Simpson was the first woman to be appointed in this responsible committee position in the house. CUTTING OUT CANDY WOULD SAVE SUGAR

Enough Confectionery Used in the United States to Keep Europe Easily.

According to information reaching the food administration the sugar used in making candy in the United States is sufficient to meet all the sugar requirements of Great Britain under the rationing standard adopted there.

If the people of the United States would cut out candy the sugar so saved would be more than sufficient to meet all the sugar requirements of France.

If one half the sugar used in the making of candy in this country in 1917 could have been saved, it would have been sufficient to meet the sugar requirements of Italy for a year under that country's present sugar standard.

The money spent for candy in this country the past year is nearly double the amount of money needed to keep Belgium supplied with food for a year.

Of the total consumption of the United States about one-third goes into the manufacture of various foodstuffs, including confectionery, while the remainder is consumed as sugar. The amount of sugar employed in the making of confectionery is variously estimated from 150,000 to 500,000 tons a year.

The confectionery business of the country is about two-thirds as large as the butter business, a little less than one-third as large as the wheat flour business, slightly larger than the canning and preserving of fruits and about two-fifths as large as the bakery business.

TEXAS IN THE LEAD

Highest Percentage of Acceptances for Air Service.

Out of tests of applicants for aerial service in the army, from twenty different states, Texas lead in the percentage of acceptances. The observers' tests are similar to those for the pilots for airplanes, except the equilibrium test is not included in the examination for observers. Officers in charge of this branch of the aviation corps say the reason Texans lead in the tests is that they are clear-eyed, keen of observation and their outdoor life has trained them to quick decision and action.

While the army is always in need of pilots for airplanes and warplanes, the great need right now is for observers—the men who note the lay of the land and map out the country as the plane moves at a great height in the air.

MULE IS A SUICIDE

She Was Named Maude, and Hanged
Herself Rather Than Be Shot.

Rather than be shot to death because a veterinarian had pronounced her crazy, Maude, a mule valued at $250, belonging to George Hays, a Lawrenceport, Ind., farmer, committed suicide. The animal had become so crazy that it had become necessary to tie her with a strong rope to keep her from beating herself to death against the side of a barn.

As there was no known cure for a crazy mule, Doctor Sanders, a veterinarian, who was called to attend her, decreed she should be shot. Her executioner went for a revolver, but before he returned the mule had slipped the rope around her neck, and lunging backward, choked herself to death.

Even the man who is as steady as clockwork may feel all run down.

Give your family a Detroit Electric
Today's Car of Utility and Economy

Detroit Electric

If you will come in at once, view the beautiful new Detroit Electric models, and place your order, we will make delivery at your home Christmas morning.

Of all automobiles the Detroit Electric is the best for a family gift because it is the only true family car. Every member can drive it expertly and safely. Its mechanism is simple while the gas car is complicated.

Service attention is rarely necessary for the Detroit Electric. Electricity is low in cost while gasoline is high. It has risen 72% in the past 18 months.

Moreover the Detroit Electric is the only satisfactory automobile for winter motoring that has been built. All gas cars are susceptible to weather changes. All gas cars have radiators that freeze up and cylinders that chill.

All gas car owners have car-trouble all winter long. Some even put their cars by until good weather comes in the spring rather than face all the trouble they know winter brings.

But the Detroit Electric owner travels the modern way, the trouble-free way, the electric-powered way. He never has trouble starting or keeping going after starting. He can leave his car out in the coldest weather and depend upon its efficiency when he is ready to go.

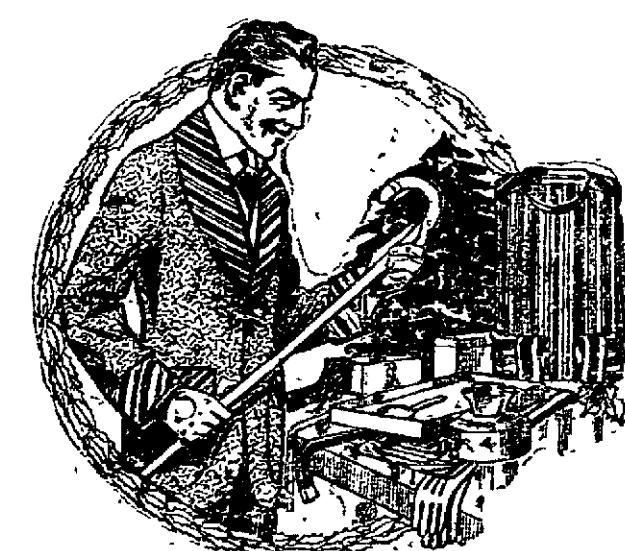

Why not drive a car that is reliable every day in the year?

The speed and mileage of the modern Detroit Electric will exceed your daily requirements.

SWINDLERS GET MILLIONS FROM WAR CHARITIES

Grafters Take Advantage of Patriotism of Country.

EXPENSES EAT UP PROCEEDS

Prey on Those Anxious to Help the Men at the Front—London and Paris Had Same Experiences in Early Days of the War—Worthy Causes Hurt by Many Fraudulent Schemes.

The exponents of the "easy money" theory have not been slow to capitalize for their personal profit the patriotic sentiment of their country. The trail of their ventures, ostensibly designed to raise money by promoting "bazaars" and "benefits" by house-to-house canvasses and street collection funds for alleged worthy purposes, is to be found in all the cities and larger towns throughout the nation, writes Louis Seibold in the New York World.

Millions have been diverted from the intelligently organized and efficiently managed agencies operating under government auspices to provide comforts for the men who are actually fighting their battles. Recognized institutions like the Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A., and various worthy religious and patriotic organizations have been deprived of money that they could use with much greater advantage to the soldiers and volunteers of the country than if given to salaried ventures conducted under haphazard circumstances.

Publication of the balance sheets of a recent bazaar show the cost of a ten-days' event which was designed to "provide comforts for boys at the front" exceeded $70,000. The net profits available for "providing comforts" was less than $800 after the expenses of the enterprise had been paid. The annual report of a "league" to furnish "comforts" for the seafighters of the country shows that out of $30,000 raised for the purpose, only a little more than $700 ever found its way into "comforts" for anybody.

But great as has been the abuse of the confidence of patriotic citizens from movements which are organized on an ostensible public basis, even more damaging are the flagrantly fraudulent schemes of persons who resort to house-to-house canvasses and street collections to line their own pockets.

The attention of the police of nearly every large city in the country, and particularly New York, has been centered on the operations of criminals of this type who have obtained through misrepresentation vast sums in the aggregate from gullible people who believed they were giving money to worthy causes designed to make life easier for the men who are exposing their lives to their country's enemies. It is difficult, of course, to present any intelligent estimate of the gross amount of money raised by volunteer collectors of these various "funds," but it undoubtedly amounts away up into the millions.

There have been frequent instances of men and women utterly lacking a sense of honor and decency audaciously and fraudulently soliciting funds in the name of the Red Cross. One such case recently came to light on the upper West side of New York.

A Woman Swindler's Methods.

A well-dressed woman around whose arm was a white band on which was stamped a faint red cross, visited several apartment houses. She carried a pasteboard box with a slot and decorated with a big red cross. When admitted she inquired breezily:

"Anything for the Red Cross today?"

When questioned by some of her intended victims as to the specific purpose of the collection she said: "Oh, this is for a special purpose."

The police say that persons falsely representing themselves as agents of the Red Cross or other recognized organizations should be immediately turned over to the first officer.

Inquiry of the Red Cross authorities reveals the fact that it does not employ agents of this sort and that its appeals for funds are publicly made, and subscriptions should be sent to headquarters.

That which is true of the Red Cross applies to the Y. M. C. A. and a few other worthy causes, including public funds started by newspapers for the purchase of tobacco, donations to which are acknowledged in the news columns.

Great Britain and every other belligerent country was confronted by the same conditions and problems in the early stages of the war. So great was the abuse of the public confidence by the "easy-money men" of England that the government and newspapers opened war on them, with the result that many were sent to prison, and the patriotic charities regulated and organized on a business basis under government supervision.

Frauds in London Exposed.
In December, 1915, the London Daily Mail began a crusade against the volunteer war charities of an indiscriminate character. It exposed the exorbitant profits reaped by persons who preyed on the public through appeals for funds to carry on ostensible patriotic ventures.

The Mail asserted that enough money was collected in this way to pay the actual cost of the war for a week. And Great Britain was then spending $25,000,000 for war purposes every day.

The same evils recently exposed in this country were brought to light in Great Britain. Most of the revenues of "bazaars" and "benefits" were eaten up by "expenses" for press agents, advertising solicitors and promotions.

The extent to which the indiscriminate war grafters imposed on the British public before the government stepped in to put a stop to their activities was described by James M. Touhy, London correspondent of the World, in a dispatch printed in 1916. Mr. Touhy said:

"One woman was arrested who turned out to be the wife of a soldier to whom the war department was making an allowance of $6 a week, this in addition to the $7 a week which her husband gave her from his pay. She was begging for a Belgian fund which did not exist. A well-known woman of society whose success in organizing entertainments for charity has produced many thousands of dollars has, it is said, paid herself, under the item of expenses, at the rate which the big theater managers of the West end receive."

"Scotland Yard blames the most prominent people who allow their names to be put upon committees for war charities without investigating the reliability of those who collect the funds."

"Early in April the citizens of Glasgow denounced the prince of Wales' fund, to which Scotland had contributed generously without being able to obtain a penny to pay rents for the families of soldiers at the front."

Stopped by Scotland Yard.

"The French relief fund and the 'Belgian soldiers' fund occupy the most conspicuous places just now in the public investigation of charity money scandals. In France the minister of the interior is responsible for the collection and distribution of all such funds, and the committee, self-appointed in London, to collect money for the French relief fund, had no difficulty in securing the patronage of President Poincaré and different members of the French cabinet."

"It was then an easy matter to get the patronage of members of the British cabinet, and this fund was largely advertised as being under the sponsorship of Sir John Simon, the home secretary, and Winston Churchill, before the latter's withdrawal from the government. Mr. Asquith, the prime minister also allowed his name to be used in connection with the fund."

"When no balance sheet was published after nearly a year of activity in gathering in the shillings, and when, moreover, the London committee began seeking government aid to prevent the duchess of Somerset from having a French flag day July 7 in London for the benefit of the French Red Cross, an investigation was begun which seems to have finally been taken in hand by Scotland Yard."

"Sir John Simon, Churchill, Lloyd George and others withdrew from the sponsorship of the fund. The secretary of the fund then tried to place before the public a statement of the condition of the fund, which amounted to $230,000, and $500,000 was wanted. The London papers refused to print the advertisement. It was said the newspapers had been told by Scotland Yard not to allow the affairs of the French relief fund to figure in their columns."

Paris had very much the same experience as the British metropolis with war grafters. Out of 147 war charities organized in the French capital in 1915, 75 were found to be the most barefaced swindles by the police, according to the Matin, which inaugurated a crusade against the evil. In

FAMOUS PAINTER IS INTERNED IN ENGLAND

Philip A. Laszlo, the famous Austrian painter, has been interned in England because of his suspicious activities. Professor Laszlo is known throughout the art world. He painted portraits of many notables, including President Roosevelt, King Edward VII, Kaiser Wilhelm, being a few of his best known subjects. He was interned in 1912 by the emperor of Austria. He has been a resident of England for many years.

reporting the result of its investigation the Matin said:

Many of the Promoters Criminals.

"Thirty-five of the 'philanthropic societies' were found to be conducted by men who had been released from prison just before or just after the mobilization at the start of the war. Several others, it is said, are conducted by Germans and Austrians who had succeeded on one pretext or another, in gaining their release from the concentration camps."

"Two of the most brilliant and successful 'philanthropists,' it is said, began business without enough money to open offices, but soon were able to rent handsome quarters in town and purchase automobiles. They are now, it is declared, in the habit of entertaining their friends at sumptuous dinners in the most expensive restaurants on the proceeds of the contributions of their victims. These two, it is said, have never made less than 2,000 francs ($400) a day since they began operations last September."

The expenses of administering charitable funds in this country even before the war have always been very high, though not of such a magnitude as indicated by the figures reported by the promoters of ventures ostensibly patriotic.

An investigation of the charity organization society of this city in 1915 showed that it cost $1.50 to administer every $1 donated or raised by collection.

An even more glaring case of bad management (or worse) was revealed by an investigation of the United Charities of Chicago in 1913. One item developed was that it had cost $5,000 to assist a family to the extent of $300.

The opinion prevails in Washington that the government will be forced to adopt radical measures to end the indiscriminate and illegal war charities organized for selfish reasons by prosecuting some of the most outrageous cases coming to the attention of the Red Cross and other authorized agencies for collecting war funds.

George E. Scott, director of the bureau of division of the American Red Cross, has prepared the following general rules as a guide to local chapters of that organization in considering offers of assistance through the medium of entertainments:

General Rules for Chapters.

"No offers should be accepted contemplating a division of profits between the promoters and the Red Cross. This rule applies to the manufacture and sale of merchandise or articles of any kind or as to entertainments."

"No one should be permitted to promote or advertise an entertainment or like function as a Red Cross entertainment or benefit unless the management or control is entirely in the hands of the Red Cross chapter."

"If, after due investigation, those offering to conduct entertainments for the benefit of the Red Cross are found to be entirely reliable and acting in good faith they may be permitted to make announcement in the press or otherwise of their intention to donate the proceeds of the entertainment to the Red Cross, but the entertainment should not be advertised as a Red Cross benefit or Red Cross entertainment, nor any wording used in the announcements that would lead the public to believe that it is being given under the auspices of the Red Cross or that the Red Cross is in any way connected with or responsible for its management."

"In no instance should the use of the Red Cross emblem in announcing or advertising an entertainment be authorized except in the case of such entertainments as are actually managed and controlled by the Red Cross chapter."

ENGLAND ASKS U. S. FOR ANILINE DYES

Industry Has Grown Rapidly in This Country Since Outbreak of War.

"The American woman's clothing is now dyed with colors produced by American manufacturers, and the English are turning to the United States for their aniline dyes, according to reports made to the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce."

So rapidly has the American dye industry grown since the outbreak of the war that capital invested has increased from about $3,000,000 to $250,000,000.

British representatives are now in this country to co-operate with American manufacturers in supplying English and other foreign markets.

Synthetic indigo, one of the most important dycolor products, was not manufactured in this country before the war, the bulk of our market requirements being filled from Germany. The "blue jeans" of the American farm land were all colored by dyes made in Germany. Today American manufacturers are booking contracts for 1918 delivery, according to statements of trade journals.

The production of aniline dyes is now equal to the domestic demands, and the United States has already entered the field of world trade as an exporter of dycolors.

For the month of July the shipments of American-made aniline dyes to foreign countries amounted in value to $497,106.

The Cold Deck.
 "Bill Hart in Bret Hartie Land" should be the subtitle of the latest Ince-Triumph drama, "The Cold Deck," by J. C. Hawke, in which he is presented as star by Thomas N. Ince. How the shades of the fort-nights and the Vigilantes will welcome their new comrade. In some far distant day Jack Hamilton will forget with "On the Level" Leigh, the hero of this drama, and discuss the fine points of furo, while Colonel Starbottle listens appreciatively.

Hart is the reincarnation of that strange product of pioneer days in California—the gambler. The type has faded away, leaving only a faint memory in a few romances and stories and reminiscences in the Overland Monthly. The man himself, as he looked, breathed, moved and gressed, is brought to life once more on the screen by William S. Hart. He is tall, slim and aristocratic, moving in his world imperturbable and untroubled. His lips curl with genial and cynical contempt for his surroundings. He is dressed with extreme care, as in a way he sets the fashion in Hollywood or One Horse Gulch. His hat, a beautiful very tall with straight brim, has been brought round the Horn and sent on to him from San Francisco at great expense. His ruffled shirt is immaculate, his cravat is adorned with one big diamond, which is part of the capital of his trade. He wears an elaborate flowered silk waistcoat and a clerical looking frock coat, very long in the skirts. Lavender trousers tightly encase his slim limbs and and Fritz" is said to be already on its way pulling up another big money record for its owners. Special emphasis is made in the advance announcements of the super attractiveness of the girl chorus of the new show. The song and dance effects have had the expert attention of Leo Edwards, Will Cobb and Bill Smith, with the result that the production is said to be fairly electric. Frank Tannehill, one of the ablest stage managers in the country, staged the production. Popular prices will prevail.

Fleets Minstrels

By having the first part of the Al. G. Field Greater Minstrel program this season rousing in movement and national in tone, the Dean of Minstrelsy has followed his usual standard of having his annual productions an index to the spirit of the day. Mr. Field also carried out his policy of having the part new and unique in its arrangement, but preserving in every respect the genuine minstrel flavor.

The performance opens in a wealth of pageantry, picturing some of the big events in American history. This serves as a clever prelude to the minstrel first part which is made to develop naturally out of it. The background for the black face and vocalists half circle is an American fort located on an ocean beach.

This setting has enabled Al. G. Field to introduce the performers in an effective and out of the ordinary way—nothing short of a stroke of stage genius. The vocalists and specialty artists appear as soldiers in khaki satin, gambles capering before your eyes. This two reel comedy is seen together with June Caprice in "Miss U. S. A." By Crawford, hosting second man with the breezy musical show "Hans and Fritz" is in town getting ready to let Newark show goers know of its attraction. He will spend several days in the city billing Newark and the surrounding country. He reports wonderful business for his caravan.

Express conditions have hurt the Auditorium somewhat—"The Itretreat of the Germans at the Battle of Arras," due in Newark Monday didn't reach here until late yesterday. The film exchanges instead of sending films out one day in advance are now shipping three days ahead and even then they fail to arrive on time.

Mary Miles Minter, the charming little motion picture ingenue, whose friends are counted by the million, says that all picture plays in which she is featured are really and truly fairy tales to her—that she never for a moment loses the fairyland aspect of her profession.

Miss Minter, who is starred in a new American-Mutual production, "The Mate of the Sally Ann," said in an interview a few days ago that she regards herself as a regular feminine ideal and Hyde when everyone is laughing hilariously because Mary was looking her prettiest in a summery girly gown with white knit slippers.

"That's all right," persisted Miss Minter, "I want to preserve my illusions. When I'm on stage I'm Mary, but when I'm in my room I'm something else again, Mawruss."

GREAT ORCHESTRA
AT THE AUDITORIUM
TONIGHT, DEC. 19TH

The New York Philharmonic Orchestra will be heard in Newark, Josef Stransky, director, tonight under the auspices of the Civic Music Committee of the Women's Federated clubs. No one should miss the opportunity of hearing this perfect organization of musicians as the opportunity may never come again. In addition to the orchestral program a violinist of rare ability will be presented and our own Elsa Hirschberg will sing an aria. With three orchestral numbers, violinist and a singer every one is sure to be pleased. The concert is a benefit for the Licking County Boys at Camp Sherman, therefore there will be no war tax on the price of admission. For the first time in this city program notes will be furnished which add so greatly to the enjoyment of an orchestra. If the Philharmonic does not play to a capacity house it will be the first time in the history of the organization. Miss Hirschberg who is home for the holidays is a member of the Civic Music Committee and has most generously offered to sing tonight. She is slowly but surely making a name for herself. She has one of the most beautiful contralto voices on the concert stage today. Mr. Stransky expressed himself as being delighted to have her appear with his orchestra. Let the box office be besieged tonight that this occasion may be a patriotic celebration of the Red Cross drive.

are drawn taut by straps over the insteps of his highly polished Parisian boots. When he removes his hat to bow to you, as he frequently does, if he desires your better acquaintance, later on in the evening, you note that his rather long locks are carefully brushed forward over the ears. His fingers are long and delicate, almost like a woman's. But they are very dangerous, either with the cards or when directed towards his six-shooter. He is a silent man, holding himself aloof from humanity. He is a welcome guest at many camps, yet frequently outcasts his welcome. He has no settled home. He passes by and wanders on and his end is uncertain and usually sudden. The Cold Deck is seen at the Auditorium Friday and Saturday.

June Gets Hurt

June Caprice had a black eye. And it delayed, somewhat, the making of "Miss U. S. A." the William Fox photoplay, in which she is now appearing. The black eye, the first June ever had, too, was the result of an accident during one of the scenes in "Miss U. S. A." The play is very dramatic and at one point the man, with whom she is appearing, thrusts her aside. June is supposed to fall back, pick up a chair and smash it over the villain's head. But when the man thrust June aside, she lost her balance and fell heavily against the chair, crushing a three-inch gash over her left eye. A doctor put three stitches in the cut, but he could not keep the sorrowful colors from circling the "Sunshine Maid's" eye.

"I was home then for two weeks for June."

Miss Caprice is seen at the Auditorium Sunday, together with a two reel Mack Sennett comedy.

Hans and Fritz

The ocean to ocean success, "Hans und Fritz," the newest R. Dix's Holland Comedy Cartoon conceit adapted for the stage, is due at the Auditorium on Xmas day for matinee and night. "The Katzenjammer Kids," a former cartoon series made into a stage play, made a fortune for its producer. "Hans and the black face comedians as off-icers' servants, cooks, etc. These features, combined with the fact that this year the Dean of Minstrelsy has brought together the premier artists of the country in his singing and dancing contingents, serve to make this part of the program the banner one in the career of The Al. G. Field Greater Minstrels. This minstrel organization will appear at the Auditorium theater on Thursday and Friday Dec. 27th and 28th.

"The Snarl"

Helen and Marion Dean are twins, identical in appearance, but widely different in character. Several days before her debut in opera Helen is struck down by an automobile and crippled. The impresario substitutes her twin, Marion, to act the role while Helen sits behind the scenes and sings the words. The public is duped, and Marion receives an ovation, which she attributes to her own personal charm. Later she marries Monte Bruce and sends for Helen to accompany them on a yacht tour. Monte is blinded by a powder explosion, and Marion, who has little time for a blind husband, turns him over to Helen's care. One day he recovers his sight and detects his wife in the act of robbing him and eloping with his secretary. That night the boat catches fire. Marion and the secretary are lost, while Monte and Helen, whose strength is recovering, face a life of happiness.

MUSIC

Mrs. Charles R. White, so well known in Newark, is a rare spirit. A personality possessed of tremendous musical insight, a continual inspiration to all those whose privilege it is to be associated with her. Monday at the High school auditorium she gave a delightful and highly instructive talk illustrating the program to be played by the New York Philharmonic at the Auditorium tonight. Miss Larkin and Miss Hagmeier, Newark's most talented pianists, played the themes of the Dukas "Scherzo" and the Symphony. Owing to the busy season the attendance was small. This was the first of a series of lecture-recitals planned for the students. Hereafter an hour will be arranged earlier in the afternoon as a part of the students regular work.

It is hoped that Mrs. White can be heard again in a talk on orchestral instruments as the time was too brief Monday for any range more than a brief analysis of the Philharmonic program.

MANY MORE HOGS

SHIPPED TO FARMS.

Washington, Dec. 19.—There has been a large increase this fall in the number of hogs shipped to farms and ranches for breeding and feeding, instead of being sold for slaughter. This movement of "stockers and feeders" from the large markets of the country was four times as heavy during October, this year as during the same month last year, and for September and October combined the movement was three times heavier this year than last. These hogs have gone back to farms and ranches instead of being slaughtered will, of course, increase the pig crop next year. The movement is considered a definite indication of some of the results of the campaigns of the United States Department of Agriculture, State colleges, and other agencies, waged in all the leading hog-producing states with the object of bringing about the saving of breeding stock this winter.

Danger of Fire.
The National Board of Fire Underwriters has requested the Red Cross to consider the plan of placing a lighted candle behind the service flag on Christmas on account of the danger from fire. It is asked that the shades be raised that the light may shine through the flag, or that the electric flash light be used.

Service Medal Fund.
The Advocate thanks Mrs. E. S.
Miller for a dollar contribution to the soldiers and sailors medal fund.
It has been necessary to order so many more medals than was expected ($50 to date) that the medal fund needs replenishing if the practice of presenting service medals to the Licking county soldiers and sailors is to continue.

Community Christmas Tree.
There will be a Community Christmas tree and school program at the school house at Toboso, Friday evening, Dec. 21, at 7 o'clock. Admission free. Everybody is invited to exchange their presents through the community tree.

Musical Success.
Mr. Robert E. Northey (Bert) of West Locust street has been notified by the Sherwood Musical School of Chicago, that he has passed his twelfth quarterly examination with the mastery of the required technical work that entitles him to a teacher's certificate which is being prepared for him. He has been highly complimented for his work all along and carried grades from 91 to 99. His local teacher, Miss Dooney, and Mr.
Northey feel encouraged over his good record.

Ladies' Aid Society.
Ladies' Aid Society of Neal Avenue M. E. church will meet in the church parlors, Thursday at 2 p. m.,
Dec. 20.

Band Boys Notice.
Members of the Buckeye band will please take notice that there will be a regular meeting and band rehearsal Thursday evening at our quarters in the South Side. Kindly be present, as there are matters of importance to be attended to. Robert Dold, manager.

Edlists in Service.
Howard Jackson, the well known violinist of this city, has enlisted in the quartermaster's department of the army and has been assigned to duty at Camp Jos. E. Johnson, Jacksonville, Fla. and has been ordered to report to Chicago, Dec. 29, from which place he will leave with a number of other recruits.

January Meeting.
The Women's Music club will hold its next regular meeting in January.
Announcement will be made later.

Death of Former Resident.
A telegram has been received by Miss Mame Thurston of North Fourth street telling of the death of her cousin, Miss Allie Lechary of Quaker City, O. Miss Lechary was a former resident of Newark.

McDermott Transferred.
Wm. McDermott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McDermott of South Fifth street, has been transferred from the 324th Field Artillery to the Telegraph Battalion of the Signal Corps, Camp Sherman, Chillicothe.

To Get Furlough.
Robert Kuster, son of Mr. and Mrs.
J. S. Kuster of Commodore street, who recently enlisted in the radio department of the U. S. Navy and is at the Great Lakes Training station, has informed his parents that he will be home to spend Christmas.

Salesmen's Meeting.
The staff of salesmen employed by the Styron-Beggs company, has been assembled at the Sherwood Hotel for the past few days for the annual meeting of the salesmen held by the company. They left for their territory this morning.

Home on Furlough.
James McCarthy, who recently enlisted in the navy and is stationed on the U. S. S. Pennsylvania, is home on a furlough, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James McCarthy of Pine street.

Soldier Broke Quarantine.
Chief of Police Sheridan has been asked to look out for Sergt. Clyde Clark, a soldier at Camp Sherman, Chillicothe. The message was from the captain of a company of the 330th Infantry asking the chief to keep a lookout for Clark, who is said to have broken a quarantine of meningitis. He has not been seen around the city, and does not seem to be known here at all.

Red Cross Campaign.
In nearly every instance the school boys and girls, who were very successful in their Red Cross Membership solicitation yesterday were cordially received by the people but two cases have been reported to headquarters that will warrant investigation. One little girl said to have been gruffly ordered off a porch and another school child was treated in an insolent manner and told by a man that he "would give nothing to those grafters."

When Music Surfeits.
I tell you, hearing those star opera singers on the phonograph is almost as good as hearing them on the stage.

Far better. You can shut them off when you like on the phonograph.—Chicago Herald.

The man who is willing to admit
he is wrong is at least that far right, anyhow.

AND THE INTEREST.

Certaldo, a little Italian mountain town near Florence, is chiefly noted as the probable birthplace and the indubitable home of one Boccaccio, an author much read by learned savants, because he was in some sort the founder of modern literature, giver of ideas to Shakespeare and the Elizabethans, forerunner of the short story writer of today, and, as such, responsible for the American magazine. Certaldo is mildly conscious of the honor of being the home of Boccaccio, but they are not excited about the fact there, writes a correspondent. They have named a hill after him and a street, and they show you his house,
and there is a statue supposed to resemble him down by the railroad station, but a celebrity five centuries old is hardly good enough to constitute the principal industry of a city, even a city as small as Certaldo. They are grateful for what tourist traffic Boccaccio brings in, but they are a farming folk, particularly interested in the raising of onions.

The Schwenkfelders.
The Schwenkfelders are a religious sect who, like the Friends, the Dunkards and the Mennonites, profess the doctrine of nonresistance. They are the followers of Kaspar von Schwenkfeld, a German religious reformer of the sixteenth century. He was an advocate of the Reformation, but his views differed greatly from those of Luther. He did not found a church as it was inconsistent with his principles, but after his death his followers held meetings and different congregations came into existence in various parts of Germany, particularly in Silesia. They suffered much persecution and many left their homes. In 1734 34 families emigrated from Silesia to Pennsylvania and settled in Montgomery and Berks counties. They have in this country six churches and 1,048 members.

Finger-Print Identification Not New.
According to a scientist of the Field museum, Chicago, the taking of finger prints as a means of identification was used by the Chinese and Japanese at least a thousand years ago. Writing in Science to controvert Sir William J.
Herschel's claim to the credit for the invention, he quotes Rashid-eddin, the famous Persian historian, who described in 1305 the then ancient Chinese custom; Soleiman, an Arabian merchant, who wrote in A. D. 851 that in China creditors' bills were marked by the debtor with his fingers, and three contracts dated A. D. 782 and 789, both finger marked and bearing a note to the effect that the parties thereto had affixed the impressions of their fingers.

It Paid to Wait.
A new version of "safety first" was illustrated on Commercial street, says
the Portland Press. A long train of freight cars was being shifted over the street and a boy started to make a dash around the end in order to avoid the wait that would be necessary to let the train go by. A man standing near sized up the space and decided that there was not room for the young man to work his way through, grabbed him by the arm and said "Hold on;
kid! You better wait here ten minutes than wait in your grave a million years." And the kid thought that was good advice. At any rate he stopped and let the train go by.

Canes of Early Days.
The cane of early American history,
like that of biblical times, was part of the repertoire of the leaders of the church. It was the principal badge of the deacon. The cane was about five feet long. One end was embellished with a big knob, the other with feathers. When the small boy rebelled against the straight-back pew, he got a rap on the head with the uncharitable end of the cane. If the head of the family got to dreaming about his old English home and the cozy little nest in one of the shires, the turkey's plumage on the deacon's cane feathered the sleeper into life again.

Pie Looked Good.
While visitors were having dinner at a friend's home a neighbor's little boy came along. Seeing that the guests were at the table, he seated himself on a couch on the side of the dining room. He remained quite until the hostess passed him with a tray on which she had the dessert. Then he smiled brightly and said, "My, but that pie looks good going by."

Should Use Zinc Rivets.
It is not wise to fasten zinc-iron sheets together with iron or steel rivets. These soon rust if not painted, and the rust penetrates through the edges of the iron encircling the rivets, and thus proves disastrous. Only zinc or zinc-covered rivets should be so used.

Olden-Time Face Powder.
Prof. M. P. Philbrick of the University of Washington told the Washington State Philological society that women of the seventeenth century
powdered their cheeks with corrosive sublimite—bichloride of mercury—and with white lead. And they perfumed their gloves with ambergris.

Silk Industry in France.
The culture of silkworms in France
has been made such an exact science that the weight of cocoons harvested in proportion to eggs hatched has been doubled in a few years.

DEFENSE'S MOTION
FOR ACQUITTAL
WAS OVERRULED

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Wauson, O., Dec. 19.—Submitted to the court without argument,
a motion by the defense for a directed verdict of acquittal, was overruled by Judge F. H. Wolfe, in the Lehman murder case.

The first witness for the defense was Mrs. Henry Griesinger of Dutch Ridge, a sister of Frederick H. Lehman, on trial for the alleged murder of his young wife. Graciated that she visited the Lehman home after Grace had been murdered by robbers, as she supposed, and that she saw her brother throw himself upon the coffin and sob as he kissed her cold lips.

"Yesterday those lips were warm.
Today they are cold," Mrs. Griesinger testified she heard Fred say.

MAYOR COOKY JONES IS INITIATED INTO LOCAL ELK LODGE

Mayor "Cooky" Jones and Chas.
C. McGough were initiated into the mysteries of Elkdom last evening, and after the regular session had been adjourned, a meatless luncheon was served by the club steward, Colonel Billy Hohi, assisted by his brother Johnny.

Mayor Jones presented the lodge
with a handsome Elk head, pronounced by all one of the finest specimens which had ever been mounted. It is a beautiful buck-head whose spreading antlers measure a little over five feet. It will be placed in the club rooms. Mr.
Jones informed his brothers that contrary to all reports the deer had not been killed upon the hunting preserves of Buckeye Lake, but had been shipped in from Maine.

FIRE DESTROYS
SMALL SHED AT BOTTLE PLANT

The Central and North End departments responded to a call from box 45, Wednesday morning at 2:15 o'clock, calling them to the American Bottle company.

The fire was in a small shed in the southern part of what is known as the "high school," and enclosed a gas engine. The damage was confined to the shed and the engine and the loss is estimated at but a few hundred dollars by the company. It is thought the shed ignited from the engine.

disgraceful muscles and confine the

PICKENS TELLS EARLY STORY OF FENBERG'S LIFE

Col. J. W. Pickens, business representative for the A. G. Field minstrel who hails from Zanesville, but who is known almost as well in this city, when here yesterday arranging with his old time friend, Geo. M. Fenberg, manager of the Auditorium, for the appearance of the Field attraction for this city on Thursday and Friday, Dec. 27 and 28, had an enjoyable visit with the hustling little manager in talking over old times and exchanging reminiscences of theatrical life, the two gentlemen having been friends for years.

Mr. Pickens told of Mr. Fenberg's early musical career, and how his parents had been offered an enormous sum, for that time, by several theatrical managers, to book the young virtuoso, and tour him over the country, and after completing same to take him abroad for a year or two. When three years of age, Fenberg could play the most difficult selections on the piano. Mr. Pickens states that he would roll out of his cradle at night and wake up the household by playing any selection which he had heard during the day.

The general Fields representative then told of how Mr. Fenberg learned to play the cornet. He was hardly old enough to stand when his father had him up town to hear a minstrel band and see the parade. The youngster, hardly able to walk, begged his father for a "pretty horn" and would not rest content until a cornet had been bought for him. The minute he had it in his hands he started to play and has been playing it ever since, being the owner of a solid gold cornet valued at several thousands of dollars, and which was presented to him, for saving great loss of life in a theatre fire in one of the big eastern cities many years ago.

SPLENDID BILL IS ARRANGED FOR WRESTLING FANS

Henry Irslinger, who meets Paul Bowser at the Auditorium theatre, Thursday evening, has arrived in the city and has created a most favorable impression with all whom he has met. He looks every inch the athlete and is a very polished gentleman, having been educated in the universities abroad. He took up wrestling as a pastime and then followed it up, holding the championship middle weight title in Europe until he came to this country some years ago. He has met and defeated many American wrestlers.

Bowser also is in the pink of condition. He stated that he believes that he can dispose of Irslinger and add another victory to the many which he has to his credit. He has been training earnestly ever since the season opened and has been doing road and gymnasium work daily, the former even in spite of the bad weather.

The preliminary bill will be one of the best ever staged in this city. For the curtain raiser Ralph Lane and Harvey Smith, two boys weighing 115 pounds each, will meet for the first time. They are said to be very clever and will try conclusions for 15 minutes.

Leslie Fishbaugh, well known local favorite, has been matched to meet John Tallman of the Columbus Y. M. C. A. The crack Newark wrestler will weigh 130 pounds and his many friends predict that he will dispose of the Capital City boy within the time limit, 15 minutes. Tallman is rated as one of the best wrestlers of his class in the Columbus Y. Young Gatch of Columbus states that his pupil will down Fishbaugh, but the latter will show him a few things on the mat that he has learned from Bowser. The visitor will have five pounds the best of it in weight.

Jimmy Whitehead of Columbus will meet Clarence Keck in a fifteen minute bout. The latter is one of Bowser's best pupils. The bill throughout is a good one. Seats can be procured at the box office of the Auditorium theatre.

MILK

The Present Supply of Milk Seems to Indicate Per Capita Allowance of About One-Third Quart a Day

- Use every ounce of the available milk supply in every form.
- Increase the use of cheese, which utilizes the milk more completely than does butter.
- Lessen the waste of buttermilk and skim milk. Buy whole milk, not cream; use the top for coffee, cereal, etc., and the rest for drinking or cooking.
- Use all sour milk, if clean and wholesome.
- Utilize the whey from cheese in bread making.
- Substitute water ices for creams as desserts.
- Green leaf vegetables may partly replace butter.
- Save on butter by serving smaller portions, serving again when more is really desired. Do not stint, however, on butter, for children, especially if they do not get an abundance of milk (unskimmed).
- Use no butter in cooking.
